At my internship, I developed so many new skills. I learned how important it is to work at as a group rather than by yourself. I also developed communication skills talking to the patients and employees.

I really enjoyed the experience of being able to work in the office and learn new skills. I would recommend internship to people that are having a hard time deciding what they want as their career. I have discovered that I want to be a dental hygienist instead of a dental assistant.

One activity I was involved in at my internship was scanning patient charts into the computer. The office is switching over to a computer based system so they needed me to scan the charts into the computer. This task was challenging for me because I had to sort through the charts first and make sure everything was divided into the right sections, then scan each paper into the system.
